SELF

STUDY IN ENGLISH IN LYON, FRANCE

A UNIQUE INTERNATIONAL CURRICULUM / A SEMESTER OR YEAR IN LYON AT BA-LEVEL

SERVICE GÉNÉRAL DES RELATIONS INTERNATIONALES

THE SELF PROGRAM:

Study in English in the heart of a European UNESCO World Heritage city

In the 21st century, it has become clearer than ever that learning to adapt to an everchanging world is essential. Taking part in a study-abroad program enables students to better understand the diversity of the world through the discovery of a different country, different people, and a different culture.

To make its study-abroad programs even more accessible, Jean Moulin Lyon 3 University has created the SELF (Study in English in Lyon, France) diploma to allow students to follow content courses within the French academic system, even though their level of French is not high (A2 level or below).

Content courses in the SELF Program are taught entirely in English in three main academic areas: Law & Political Science, Business & Business Culture and the Humanities, and are complemented by courses in French language and culture to prepare students right from their arrival in France for their exciting new cultural experience. The SELF program offers upperdivision undergraduate courses

■ Discover French life and culture by immersing yourself in France's second largest city. The 2000-year history of Lyon goes back to the time of the Romans, with high points in the Renaissance, the French Revolution and World War II. The city today is a major regional capital, with a student population of over 100,000.

■ Improve your French skills rapidly with intensive courses in French language and culture while at the same time taking content courses in your major field in English. The SELF program offers high quality courses in French (60 hours throughout the semester for newcomers), these being geared to the different levels of incoming students, for rapid progress in language skills. At the same time students may move academic careers forward as well, with courses in law, & political science, business & business culture and the humanities that give credits that can be applied to degrees in students' home universities.

■ Meet students from all over the world and sharpen your cultural awareness by learning about your peers' varied backgrounds and cultures.

WHEN?

The basic organisation of the program is on a semester basis: fall semester (end of August to mid-December) and spring semester (early January to early May).

WHO?

The program is intended for students who have completed at least two years of university studies in their home country and who wish to study in France, but whose command of the French language is insufficient to attend courses taught exclusively in French. Students can enroll in the SELF semester diploma or the SELF annual diploma. Students staying for two semesters who arrive with an A2 level in French and have attained a B1 level at the end of the semester are directed towards classes taught in French for the spring semester (DEUF program).

WHAT?

COMPULSORY INTEGRATION PROGRAM FOR NEWCOMERS: the first two weeks of the SELF program make it easy for students to feel at home in Lyon from a cultural, social and linguistic point of view.

The integration program comprises :

- An 8 hour introductory course to Life in France and in Lyon
- 10 to 15 hours of French as a foreign language taught intensively
- Campus and library visits
- An intranet training session

■ OVER THE TWELVE FOLLOWING WEEKS:

Courses are offered in the three academic areas of Business & Business Culture, Law & Political Science and the Humanities. Depending on the requirements of their home institutions, students may take courses in any or all of the areas. Each course is designed to give enough credits to transfer to a full-time load at the home institution. The SELF program insures high quality student-teacher contact and goes out of its way to make sure students find the course combinations they need.
