

The Hallam Academic: Developing your Teaching and Research under the new strategy

Professor Paul Harrison
PVC Research and Innovation

Professor Christina Hughes
PVC Student Experience

Monday 15th May 2017, 1pm- 4pm
Peak Lecture Theatre, Owen 527, City Campus

The conference begins with keynote overviews of the university strategy from the University's Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Research and Innovation, Professor Paul Harrison and the University's new Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Student Experience, Professor Christina Hughes.

Then some of the Continuing Professional Development (CPD) opportunities available at Sheffield Hallam are highlighted and how they fit into and help you respond to the new University Strategy 'Transforming Lives' is explained. Logistical matters such as accessing and recording CPD, will also be addressed.

Who should attend?

This half-day conference is aimed at all academic staff - teaching + research, research-only and teaching-only - and postgraduate research students who are interested in professional development and the CPD opportunities available at the University. It will be suitable for individuals from all disciplines and with all levels of experience.

What will be covered?

This conference will promote the CPD opportunities available to academic staff and research students. In particular it will:

- set out strategic visions for research, teaching and the role of CPD in realising these
- update on the Academic CPD project and its outputs
- promote online resources on research leadership, supervision, teaching, research integrity and research impact
- provide an update on research policies (open access, academic appraisals, personal publication strategies and peer support)

- show the range of development resources for academics provided by the university directorates
- provide an opportunity to discuss challenges and opportunities presented by the new strategy
- encourage your input into the development of new CPD opportunities and having your say via staff surveys

PROGRAMME

Time	Item	Lead
13:00	Welcome and update on Academic CPD resources	Professor Ann Macaskill
13:10	A vision for Research and of Researchers	Professor Paul Harrison
14:10	A vision for Teaching and of Teachers	Professor Christina Hughes
15:10	Discussion - what does this mean for you? (refreshments available)	Professor Ann Macaskill Dr Elizabeth Scanlon
15:40	Support available and consultation via staff surveys	Dr Elizabeth Scanlon
16:00	Close

About the speakers:

Professor Christina Hughes became Pro Vice-Chancellor for Student Experience in November 2016. She is responsible for cross-University portfolio development issues at Sheffield Hallam and has overall responsibility for the entire student journey. She has taught and researched in the fields of sociology, social policy and lifelong learning.

Professor Paul Harrison has been Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Research and Innovation since joining the University in 2014. He is a physicist and Professor of Quantum Electronics.

Professor Ann Macaskill is Professor of Health Psychology and Head of Research Ethics. She is Chair of the Academic CPD Group.

Dr Elizabeth Scanlon became the University's Researcher Development Adviser in June 2016 and has responsibility for the Sheffield Hallam Researcher Development \(SHaRD\) and Doctoral Research Training Series programmes.

Booking

Reserve your place at this conference by going to: <https://shuacademiccpdiv.eventbrite.com>. You do not need to print out the ticket generated through your booking.

Venue

The Peak Lecture Theatre is on level 5 of the Owen building, Sheffield Hallam University City Campus.